

A narrow alleyway in a historic town, featuring a white building with a small arched doorway and a black lantern hanging from the wall. The alleyway leads to a yellow building in the background.